WILLIAM CANDLER IS NAMED HEAD OF HIGHWAY BODY

William Candler, president of the Atlanta Biltmore hotel and prominently identified with good roads movements, has been named head of the Georgia division of the Appalachian tours, it was made known Friday.

Organization of the Georgia division was perfected at a meeting earlier in the week, when 19 officials from Asheville, N. C., including Roscoe Marvel, vice president of the Appalachian tours and president of the Appalachian Scenic highway, assembled at the Biltmore hotel with leaders of the movement in this state.

The purpose of the Appalachian tours organization, Mr. Candler stated, is to promote travel from the mid-western states into the south, particularly through the states of North Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida. The Appalachian tours organization draws its interest from the states bordering the Great Lakes, extending as far west as North and South Dakota, sections of New York and Pennsylvania and the southeast. While part of the Appalachian Scenic highway is included in the Appalachian tours routes, there is no connection between the organizations of the Appalachian tours and the Appalachian Scenic highway, Mr. Candler explained.

ATLANTA'S TRADE OUTLOOK PLEASES COMMERCE EXPERT

William A. Dunlap, business specialist in the Washington office of the department of commerce, who has been visiting the local district office for the past three weeks, returned to Washington Friday afternoon, enthusiastic about Atlanta and its foreign trade possibilities. Mr. Dunlap, who formerly was vice consul at Sydney and Melbourne, Australia, and Tampico, Mexico, conferred with business men here in regard to foreign trade. He is engaged in making a special study of the foreign market possibilities of Georgia products, particularly foodstuffs.

"Atlanta is the liveliest town I've ever seen," Mr. Dunlap said, "and I don't believe its equal is to be found in the country." He was particularly impressed by the activity and size of the Atlanta Foreign Trade club.

LETTERS CARRIED ON ZEPPELIN TRIP COST $1.95 EACH

Approximately 3,000 pieces of mail are at the Lakehurst, N. J., postoffice awaiting transportation to Europe by the Graf Zeppelin. It has been announced by W. Irving Glover, acting Postmaster General. Postage for letters is $1.05 each, and a number have arrived which are not sufficiently postpaid. These will be returned to the writers and not carried by the Zeppelin under any circumstances. In addition, Mr. Glover announced that only mail addressed in care of the postmaster at New York city or Lakehurst would be on the Zeppelin's eastern trip.

Judge Rules Legger Selling Poison Liquor Is Liable for Damages

Chicago, October 26.—(AP)—Superior Judge Joseph B. David today ruled that a bootlegger selling poisonous liquor is liable for damages. In a decision expected to set a precedent in other similar suits he awarded damages of $1,500 to Mrs. Effie Poe, of Tullahoma, Tenn., who charged that Joe Marcinak, of Harvey, Ill., sold poisonous liquor to her husband causing him to become a habitual drunkard and ruining his health so that they were reduced to poverty. Mrs. Poe sued for $25,000 under the dram shop act and Judge David said if he thought the defendant could pay more he would have awarded a much larger judgment.

HARDMAN TO REFUSE EXTRA SESSION CALL

Good Roads Legislation Is Doomed To Wait Until Regular Meeting.

Although Governor L. G. Hardman has received several urgent requests to call the state legislature together in extra session, to consider passage of measures providing for submission of a $75,000,000 bond issue for good road construction he has no intention of calling such a session it was learned Friday at the governor's office.

The latest request for an extra session came from the Citizens club of Calhoun, and was signed by J. G. B. Erwin, J. H. Starr and James H. Reeve. There were three sections to the request, one asking for an extra session to consider highway legislation, the second providing for a reorganization of the personnel of the state highway department, and the third calling for submission of a bond issue for road construction purposes.

EXTENSION CLASSES

Classes are held in the Central Congregational church, on Carnegie way. The educational program provides for studies in most of the leading college courses.

Los Angeles, October 26.—(AP)—Leon Tellegen, stage and screen actor, was sued for divorce today by Isabel Craven Tellegen, who filed a complaint in superior court charging her husband with cruel and inhuman treatment. Tellegen, formerly the husband of Geraldine Farrar, former grand opera star, married the present Mrs. Tellegen at Rutherford, N. J., December 17, 1923. The latter's complaint stated that the couple have one four-year-old child, Rex Tellegen.

Mrs. Wellington Stevenson To Head Women Voters; Convention Closes Today

Dr. Cullen Gosnell, of Emory, Conducts Round Table on World Peace Friday Morning.

Mrs. Wellington Stevenson, of Decatur, was chosen by the Georgia League of Women Voters Thursday to head the organization during the coming year. Election of Mrs. Stevenson and selection of five directors were the main events of Friday's session of the league's state convention now being held at Decatur, with the Candler hotel as headquarters. Directors named were: Mrs. F. W. Altstaetter, Savannah; Mrs. Alfred Bailey, Atlanta; Mrs. Harry Greene, Atlanta; Mrs. John Morris, Athens, and Mrs. W. A. Ozmer, Decatur.

Mrs. Stevenson, who has served during the past year as first vice president, also is president of the DeKalb league, and was appointed chairman of arrangements for the 1923 convention. She is a past president of the Agnes Lee chapter, U. D. C.

World Peace Discussed.

Other features of Friday's program included a round table on world peace, conducted by Dr. Cullen B. Gosnell, of Emory university, and a luncheon. Students from Agnes Scott, Brennan, the University of Georgia, Wesleyan and Emory took part in the discussion. The league of Women Voters is represented by affiliated organizations at all of these institutions except Emory. The finance and festivity luncheon, of which Mrs. Alfred Bailey, president of the Atlanta league, and Mrs. George Turner, Atlanta seventh ward chairman, were in charge, was one of the main social events of the convention. The Georgia league's 1923 budget was subscribed by pledges from local leagues and individuals at this luncheon. Mrs. Roscoe Anderson, second vice president of the National League of Women Voters, was the honor guest. A unique feature, the selling of bricks which went toward building a foundation for a miniature league home, helped swell the fund to complete the budget.

The afternoon session at which Mrs. Harry Greene presided, was given over to discussion of living costs, led by Mrs. W. A. Ozmer, and of the legislative program to be followed by the league during the coming year, led by Mrs. R. L. Turman. Mrs. Turman's recommendations to the convention which included support of the Newton bill, support of a plan of simplification of state government and support of a bill to remedy registration conditions should such a bill be presented before the next legislature, will be acted upon at the last session of the convention, which is called for 10 o'clock this morning.

Banquet Is Given.

Friday night a banquet, sponsored by the college leagues affiliated with the Georgia league, was held at the Candler hotel. Mrs. F. W. Altstaetter, second vice president of the league and director-elect, presided and John Wesley Weekes, president of the Decatur Chamber of Commerce, made the address of welcome. The main speaker was Sam Slater, state auditor, who delivered an address on simplification of state government. The Decatur Chamber of Commerce cooperated with the college leagues in giving the banquet, which was the largest social event of the entire convention.

This morning's session will include adoption of the remainder of the program for 1923, including legislation, the report of the resolutions committee and presentation of the new president to the convention.

A post-convention board meeting will be held immediately following close of this session.

ANTI-CATHOLIC CASE IS CONTINUED ONE WEEK IN SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., October 26.—(AP)—The case of Mrs. Ed C. Alumbaugh and W. F. Larowe, charged with criminal libel, today was continued for one week at the request of the defense. Seventy-six witnesses subpoenaed yesterday, it developed this morning, were members of the grand jury which investigated a presentation in 1916 concerning a school for delinquent children. The two defendants stated the Roman Catholic authorities, by order of the pope, had "resisted" the school. The grand jurors were summoned by the prosecution to assist the solicitor-general in the prosecution. Don Clark is the attorney for the defense.

Neither defendant has made bond. Both are in the Chatham county jail. The warrant, signed by Thomas F. Walsh, local justice and member of the Knights of Columbus, was served on Mrs. Alumbaugh and Larowe in police court yesterday morning at the conclusion of a case in which each was fined for disorderly conduct and distributing hand bills without a permit from the city.

LOPEZ, INSURGENT MEX. CHIEF, AND 15 REBELS KILLED

Mexico City, October 26.—(AP)—Roberto Lopez, insurgent chieftain, and 15 of his followers were stated in a dispatch today from Aguascalientes to have been slain after they had fought and set fire to La Punta ranch. The insurgents attacked the ranch and demanded 10,000 pesos from the owners. When the owners refused, the most valuable fighting bulls imported from Spain for breeding purposes were killed and the ranch buildings fired.

Federal troops arrived later and overtook the insurgents near the ranch killing 15 of them.

PORTER AGAIN NAMED STATE CIVITAN HEAD

Robert Ingram, Decatur, Is Elected Lieutenant-Governor.

Dalton, Ga., October 26.—(Special.)—The state convention of the Civitan clubs ended its 1928 annual session here Friday with the election of officers, following a two-day gathering at which several hundred delegates attended.

Herbert Porter, advertising director of The Constitution, was re-elected district governor for Georgia, and B. C. Breet, of Atlanta, was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Three lieutenant governors from the state at large were named. They are Robert Ingram, of Decatur; James Reed, of Calhoun, and S. H. Shi, of Macon.

The 1928 gathering was said by officials to have been among the most successful gatherings in the history of the state organization. Among the prominent officials attending the convention was James N. McLean, national president of the organization.

Mr. Ingram, newly-elected lieutenant governor, announced that he would make an effort in DeKalb county to build a school for delinquent children. This, he declared, would be only one of many projects the organization in his district would strive to complete.

Decatur members who attended the gathering here included Charles Mathis, president of the Decatur organization; Foster C. Law and George W. Woods.

Receives News Of Big Fortune, Falls Into Faint

Waycross, Ga., October 26.—(Special.)—When he was notified that he was heir to an estate valued at $250,000, Bob Kelly keeled over in a dead faint, and was revived only after his friends worked over him with an ammonia bottle.

Kelly came to Waycross following the Florida hurricane and has been seeking employment as a linotype operator, it is understood. He was "dead broke."

Several days ago George Kelly, giving his home as Yonkers, N. Y., came to Waycross searching for his brother, Bob Kelly, whom he had heard was in Waycross. The Waycross Journal-Herald carried a news story of Kelly's mission in the city, explaining that Bob Kelly had been left a $250,000 estate by Louis E. Liles, of Avondale, Ariz., and asking for any possible information as to Bob Kelly's whereabouts.

Several hours after the paper was issued Bob Kelly was told of the news. A friend read the story to him. It was more than he could stand. He swooned.

County authorities today are aiding Kelly in establishing his identity, the older brother having returned, by automobile, to his home in Yonkers.

THREAT TO KILL LAID TO HUSBAND IN DIVORCE SUIT

Is a dare to leave the room, backed up by a significant display of a razor, and a threat to "blow your brains out," suitable grounds for divorce.

This question was put up to Fulton superior court Friday by two women, who alleged that their husbands had mistreated them and threatened their lives.

The wife of Theo Partin declared in a petition for divorce that Partin seized a razor and dared her to leave when she attempted to get out of the room after he had beaten her on the head and choked her while he was in a drunken rage. She finally managed to get away after considerable coaxing. Mrs. Partin set out in her petition.

Mrs. Partin's petition showed that they were married in Cochran on September 10, 1918, and separated on February 26, 1922. The petition was filed by Jones, Evans, Powers and Jones and Walter Daley.

In the other suit Mrs. Julia E. Hicks alleged that her husband, James A. Hicks, for many years had been cruel and inhuman to her, nagging, curbing and abusing her, and threatening to kill her on numerous occasions. On several occasions he threatened to blow her brains out.

Mrs. Hicks alleged that her husband's abuse for years on account of the children, Mrs. Hicks alleged that he had also falsely accused her of intimacy with other men in order to embarrass and humiliate her. She asked for alimony, custody of two children, and for a restraining order to prevent Hicks from interfering with her. Judge G. H. Howard signed a temporary restraining order. The petition was filed by Carl N. Guess, Mr. and Mrs. Hicks were married July 28, 1907, and separated October 25, 1922, the petition showed.

Some minutes later Kennedy returned to the courtroom and his presence was not noticed until some time afterward. There followed an argument by attorneys as to whether his testimony should be allowed. He was finally allowed to testify, but at the conclusion of the case he was fined $10 for contempt of court. Beheler and Thomas, the men on trial at the time, were acquitted.

Edward Shelton, on trial for alleged stealing of a dress from a sack of mail, was found not guilty and released.

GIRL INJURED IN LEAP FROM CAR IMPROVING

Police Are Searching Atlanta for Driver of Automobile.

Miss Kate Lambert, 19, of College Park, who was seriously injured when she jumped from a speeding automobile Thursday night, was reported as improving by Grady hospital officials Friday afternoon. She had recovered consciousness, they said, and was expected to recover.

According to the story told hospital attaches, Miss Lambert, together with her younger sister, Hazel, accepted the invitation of a young man to whom they had just been introduced by a friend, to take them home from a carnival on Highland avenue where they had spent part of Thursday afternoon.

They entered the car but soon discovered that they were not being taken in the proper direction and when they protested, it is said, they were ordered to "jump out." The car slowed down for a moment and the younger girl got out safely, but just as her sister prepared to alight the car shot forward and she was thrown out, striking her head against the pavement.

She was carried to a near-by drug store to wait for an ambulance, which conveyed her to the Grady hospital in an unconscious condition.

Immigration Agent Is Denied Right To Make Prohi Arrests

New Orleans, October 26.—(AP)—A government agent has no authority to make arrests for violation of a law other than the law which he is charged by statute with enforcing, Judge Wayne G. Borah, of the federal district court, held today.

The issue came up in the case of Higinio Torres, St. Bernard farmer, who was charged with possession of liquor. He had been arrested by a federal immigration agent who was searching for an alien and came across a supply of liquor.

The judge quashed the charge on the ground the immigration agent had no authority to make arrests in prohibition cases.

Senator Harris Delivers Warning to Southerners Against G.O.P. Vote Peril

Supremacy of White Race Dominant in Present Campaign, Solon Tells Royston Audience.

Royston, Ga., October 26.—(Special.)—Showing that the record of the republican party has always been antagonistic toward the southern states, Senator William J. Harris delivered an address before a large audience here tonight urging steadfast support of the democratic party's candidates for president and vice president.

"Everything possible to retard and hamper the south," the senator declared, "is done by the republican party when in power. A notable example of their unfriendly attitude was shown the past year when Secretary Jardine, of the department of agriculture, issued bulletins on cotton, forecasting large production and price increases to the detriment of our state alone—to say nothing of the entire south."

The republican party, the speaker continued, has never desired a white man's intelligent party in the south. He predicted that if it is returned to power in the November elections "we will see the party rule of the negro race in all of our southern states."

Sale of U. S. Offices.

"Postoffice and other federal positions will be auctioned off the block to the highest bidder by Ben Davis or Joe Watson," Senator Harris warned. "Surely no white democrat in Georgia can deliberately vote to perpetuate such a venal and corrupt disposition of federal offices in Georgia, knowing as they do the disgusting and outrageous rule of the republicans for the past eight years."

"No matter what the objections of any democrat to Governor Smith as our party candidate, a refusal to vote for him or a vote cast for Mr. Hoover will witness that the democrat as approving the record of the republicans and a desire to continue such miserable misrule for four more years in Georgia."

The senator devoted part of his address to the record of graft and corruption "and the betrayal of the oil scandals of the past eight years."

Graft and Treason.

"Look at the shameful conduct of Secretary Fall, Attorney General Daugherty, Secretary Denby—all in the republican cabinet," he suggested, "and that miserable crook, Forbes, who stole the money and robbed wounded veterans of the great world war, thus preventing as far as he could hospitals, equipment and food for our defenders of the nation."

"The story of graft and the betrayal of our country in fraudulently leasing the great oil reserves set aside under President Woodrow Wilson's administration for our navy in time of war cannot be expiated away or defended by any patriotic American and every democrat who may vote for Mr. Hoover does so with the full knowledge that the republican candidate sat silently in the republican cabinet and permitted such outrageous frauds on the American people without a pretense of lifting his voice against such a crime. There is no escape from this responsibility and a Georgia democrat who casts his ballot for the republican party—whether he so intends or not—is voting to approve the crookedness and graft of eight years of republican misrule."

Hoover Raised Negro Issue.

"Much to my regret, Mr. Hoover brought the negro question into this national campaign. When a director of the census was order separating the races in the census bureau in Wash-

TEY GUINAN VANISHES Married Women School Teachers Upheld by Court

Miss Prevost Asserts She'll Sue Night Club Hostess for Month's Rent.

Hollywood, Calif., October 26.—(AP) Texas Guinan, whose "come-on" in New York's night clubs won her a hearing in Hollywood, said she has disappeared, but one thought she would know anything of her whereabouts.

Marie Prevost, screen star, from whom Texas leased a nobby bungalow in Beverly Hills for three months and paid only two months' rent, said the famous hostess had gone back to Gotham's night rendezvous.

Roger Marchetti, Texas' legal adviser, said his client had left "only temporarily" and would be back shortly to appear for several damage suits in which she is involved.

Not only did Miss Guinan leave without notice, said Miss Prevost, but without the customary inventory of the furnishings and trappings of the nobby Beverly Hills bungalow.

"She didn't give me the $800 due on the last month's rent. You see I rented her the house for a three months' period for a total consideration of $2,400. She paid me $1,600, but when I went to collect the balance she had left."

I know she left for the east because she sent a telegram from Chicago to a friend of hers to come to the house and look for some jewelry she believed she had left behind."

Miss Prevost said she probably would file suit to collect the full month's rent, but she would cause an inventory of the house to be taken first.

If Miss Prevost's contemplated suit materializes, Miss Guinan will be on even terms so far as money goes with the local courts are concerned.

To date the night club hostess filed two suits against the worst cheating actress in show business, accounting for receipts during the time she was billed for stage appearances.

In retaliation the theater company recently filed an action against Miss Guinan charging breach of contract and asking $15,000 damages.

Miss Guinan has been working on a talking picture for a Hollywood film producer.

DANCER SHAKES EARL AND LOSES HER TITLE

Edinburgh, Scotland, October 26.—(AP) A decree of divorce has been granted Lady Northesk, the former Jessica Brown, from the Earl of Northesk. The suit was filed in the court of the Earl of Northesk in Paris in January of this year. The couple were married in Chicago in July, 1923.

Jessie Brown, of Buffalo, who at one time danced in the Ziegfeld Follies, was married in Chicago July 10, 1923. By the marriage the American girl became the eleventh Countess of Northesk.

During the past year it became known that the titled Englishman and his American wife had become estranged and had separated.

Last month Peggy Hopkins Joyce, the actress, arrived in New York on the Aquitania. Lord Northesk also was a passenger and the actress was quoted as saying that the English peer would be her fifth husband when he had obtained a divorce from Lady Northesk. At the same time Lord Northesk volunteered the information that the final decree would be granted at Edinburgh late this fall and that then he would be free to marry.

$25,000 DAMAGES ASKED BY COUPLE FOR TWO INJURIES

Damage suits for $25,000 for two separate injuries to Roy J. Donaldson—one resulting from a "ride" in a carnival amusement device, and the other from an explosion of a can of varnish—have been filed by Mrs. Donaldson and her husband in the city court of Atlanta. Two of the suits were filed Friday afternoon and the third, a Howard left a note saying he was driven to desperation by the approaching trial of his stepdaughter on misconduct charges preferred by her father-in-law.

The case against the varnish woman, which had been set for trial today, was continued to December 17.

Woman Is Picketing Jail Where Atheist Serves Out Time

Little Rock, Ark., October 26.—(AP) Mrs. Marcel Haldeman-Jubus, wife of the Girard, Kans., publisher, today began picketing in front of the city jail where Charles Smith, president of the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism, is serving out a fine imposed for his activities against the proposed anti-evolution company in the city of Little Rock.

Smith was arrested after the anti-evolution company was organized in the city of Little Rock. He was released after a hearing by the city court.

Duke of Manchester, Bankrupt Since 1915, Still Held for Debt

London, October 26.—(AP) The Duke of Manchester, who in 1900 married Miss Helena Zimmerman, daughter of the late Eugene Zimmerman, an American capitalist, will not be freed from bankruptcy proceedings for the next three years at least. His affairs came into the bankruptcy court in 1915 and today the registrar in the bankruptcy court, in suspending for three years the discharge of the duke from an order of adjudication made in 1916, expressed the opinion that there had been "most unjustifiable and reckless extravagance."

The official receiver estimated the duke's indebtedness at £129,650 pounds, or approximately $648,280, and declared that the only assets disclosed by the debtor was jewelry, which realized 90 pounds ($450).

The trustee in bankruptcy, however, reported that he had recovered under an agreement sanctioned by the committee of inspection, the Zimmerman trustees and the duke's 9,125 pounds ($46,615), and that a dividend of one shilling in the pound had already been paid. An additional shilling, or sixpence half-penny was expected.

MOTIVE IS SOUGHT FOR HUMAN TORCH ATTACK ON MAN

Pembroke, Ga., October 26.—(AP) A motive for the attack on Ernest Sykes who was severely burned after his clothing had been saturated with gasoline and ignited, had not been determined today. One arrest has been made and an additional warrant was expected to be served this afternoon.

Sykes, now in a hospital in Savannah, gave officers the names of his alleged assailants. Ellis Sherman arrested yesterday at his home near Clyde on a charge of assault with intent to murder denies any knowledge of the attack. He said he was asleep at home when it occurred.

MULL SHOWS FALLACY OF SMITH NEGRO TALE

Governor Never Had Colored Stenographer, Says North Carolina Democrat.

Raleigh, N. C., October 26.—(AP) With the declaration that the republican and anti-Smith organization of North Carolina have raised the "negro issue" in this campaign and have portrayed Governor Alfred E. Smith, democratic presidential nominee, as favoring equality of races in New York, O. M. Mull, chairman of the state democratic forces, tonight issued a statement.

The democratic party is both able and ready to meet them on this issue," he declared in preface.

He then charged that the forces opposing Governor Smith were circulating in this state "a picture purporting to be that of Ferdinand Q. Morton, negro, member of the municipal service commission of New York city, dictating to a white stenographer."

Pointing out that the literature purports to "hold" Smith responsible for the negro's appointment, Chairman Mull declared that Morton was appointed to office by the administration of Mayor Hylan, whom Governor Smith opposed, and that his term of office has not expired since Mayor James J. Walker, Smith's candidate, took office. He added that negroes appointed to positions of trust on boards and similar controlling units, in New York were given office through laws enacted by the general assembly, which is "controlled by republicans."

He also charged that the forces that appoint these negroes to office are not the "supporting" party for the negro's appointment, as claimed by Governor Smith, but are the forces that appoint these negroes to office.

The statement, after pointing out other similar allegations and denying them, assured the voters that the forces that appoint these negroes to office are not the "supporting" party for the negro's appointment, as claimed by Governor Smith, but are the forces that appoint these negroes to office.

He declared that the republican party has always courted the negro vote and that the Kansas City convention which nominated Mr. Hoover for president was composed of negro delegates and white delegates.

CURTIS ADDRESSES WOMEN'S MEETING IN COLUMBUS, OHIO

Columbus, Ohio, October 26.—(AP) American men and women, regardless of politics, do not want "their state" to go into the liquor business. Senator Curtis, republican vice presidential nominee, today told a meeting of women here.

The Women's Republican Club of Ohio and the Ohio Women's Christian Temperance union joined in a luncheon at the Hotel Columbus to address the women here.

He lauded the activities of women in politics, and assailed Governor Smith for his proposal for state liquor control.

"Any candidate," Curtis declared, "who says American women are dishonest and that witnesses cannot be trusted is not the kind of a man to elect to enforce any law in this country. In his speech of acceptance, the clear governor said the prohibition law had not reduced witnesses who had perjured themselves and jurors who would not enforce their trust. I say this law can be enforced."

Senator Simon D. Fess and other republican leaders were introduced at the luncheon. Senator Curtis left for Cincinnati on a special train for Cedarville.

Duke of Manchester, Bankrupt Since 1915, Still Held for Debt

London, October 26.—(AP) The Duke of Manchester, who in 1900 married Miss Helena Zimmerman, daughter of the late Eugene Zimmerman, an American capitalist, will not be freed from bankruptcy proceedings for the next three years at least. His affairs came into the bankruptcy court in 1915 and today the registrar in the bankruptcy court, in suspending for three years the discharge of the duke from an order of adjudication made in 1916, expressed the opinion that there had been "most unjustifiable and reckless extravagance."

The official receiver estimated the duke's indebtedness at £129,650 pounds, or approximately $648,280, and declared that the only assets disclosed by the debtor was jewelry, which realized 90 pounds ($450).

The trustee in bankruptcy, however, reported that he had recovered under an agreement sanctioned by the committee of inspection, the Zimmerman trustees and the duke's 9,125 pounds ($46,615), and that a dividend of one shilling in the pound had already been paid. An additional shilling, or sixpence half-penny was expected.

NO NEED TO RAISE TARIFF ON CORN, COOLIDGE'S VIEW

Washington, October 26.—(AP) President Coolidge does not regard the possibility of raising the tariff on corn for the few imports in this country as a question of the tariff commission on the question will be handled in the usual course and a final decision will be reached in due course of the merits of the case.

President Coolidge has been informed that corn imports into this country for the last few years amounted to about 2,000,000 bushels a year. The tariff at present amounts to 15c a bushel. Under the flexible provision of the tariff act seven and one-half cents per bushel is the greatest possible increase in the tariff which may be proclaimed. In view of the relatively light imports in this country and of the slight change which is possible in the tariff schedule, President Coolidge regards the whole matter as of no great importance.

Catarrh Robs Patient of Vital Resistance

Find a man, woman or child who is afflicted with chronic catarrh of the nose and its connecting air passages and you will always find a patient who is most susceptible to more serious diseases. Why? Science explains that catarrh interferes with natural breathing, preventing proper oxygenation and purification of the blood by the lungs and also absolutely prevents restful, refreshing sleep. Catarrh is a constant drain upon the nutrition of the body, making the patient weak and thereby susceptible to all germ infections such as cold, flu, pneumonia, etc.

Your physician will tell you that catarrh is a local condition, not a systemic disease. You must fight it constantly with a local remedy that reaches the throat. Of the many remedies that have been tested for the relief of catarrh, none has given such uniformly successful results to the physician or attained such popular favor as the prescription of Dr. Hunkeler, known to your druggist as Hunkeler's White Wonder Salve. Applied in the nostrils, morning and night, "White Wonder" gives quick and most delightful relief. Clean, greaseless and absolutely stainless, "White Wonder" is a perfect example of the finest pharmaceutical art—a joy and comfort to everyone who suffers with nasal catarrh.

THE $1,557 HUDSON SUPER-SIX SEDAN

The new Hudson makes a notable contribution to the growing vogue for cars of American design and efficiency to make swift use of the world's greatest highway system.

The new Hudson hood is long and high with a deep, slender radiator of new design. Headlamps, Colonial in character, are carried on a nicked cross bar and braced by vertical standards from the frame. Contrasting with the high radiator design, fenders with their aprons, sweep widely out in one clean arc to a beaded edge. A sculptured, fleet-winged figure caps the radiator. The distinctive character of this Hudson front end is carried back into the body with low, flat roof lines, with wide fenders sweeping back to meet short running boards and with wide windows of low oblong shape. Within, the body's manifest improvements in both comfort and appearance are evident. Rich wool and mohair are used for interior lining and upholstery fabrics. Hardware of special Colonial design, and smoking cases are pleasant accents in the scheme of decoration.

Look at that Hudson Super-Six pictured above. But don't be content with merely looking at it in a photograph. Go to Goldsmith-Becker, Inc., 230 Spring, N. W., and see this very automobile on the display floor. No attempt will be made to SELL you anything. Goldsmith-Becker aren't worrying about sales. The fact of the matter is that the demand for Hudson cars is greater now than at any time in the last ten years. And the reason for this demand is the automobile-buying public's appreciation of the maximum value in an automobile.

And while you are revelling in the delights of this Hudson car, don't forget that there are two Essex cars that are waiting for winners.

These Essex cars, while costing only $978 and $919 as compared with the $1,557 Hudson, LOOK like costly cars, and ACT like costly cars, BECAUSE THEY ARE BUILT LIKE COSTLY CARS.

The only Essex point in common with cars in its price field—is price. There is little in either appearance or performance to distinguish it from many a costlier car.

In size it possesses the advantage of compactness without sacrifice of passenger quarters or riding comfort. It steers as easily as any car you have ever driven. There is a quick-

Improved in Strength and Style.

These new Hudson bodies are rich in appearance, sturdily built. Rear body panels are two large seamless panels, joined together at the belt moulding. Rugged steel and malleable brackets join side and cowl members rigidly to body and roof sills. Piano-type door hinges recessed into the body panels hold doors permanently in position.

Close the door of one of these standard bodies. It closes solidly without resonance, eloquent of the very substantial way in which these cars have been designed and constructed.

From these Hudson cars you may expect a phenomenal performance. Riding qualities obtained by Hudson's unique hanging of long, semi-elliptic springs gives a sense of security to the flashing, speedy pick-up and high-speed performance of the Hudson high compression Super-Six power plant. A turn behind the wheel of these newest Hudsons will furnish you with a new, thrilling motoring experience. The body is finished in two pleasing tones of brown, the deep tones of the upper body being pleasantly relieved by light-colored window reveals and red striping.

Within, the exterior richness of this model is reflected in mohair and wool upholstery, a warm brown being used for the body linings, while the same background with a red figured pattern is used on the seats. Seat cushions are form-fitting, wide and comfortable. The front seat, of the davenport type, is adjustable fore and aft to fit the individual driver. Wide windows of oblong shape and deep reveals, lighter than the body color, and a custom touch to the exterior. Rear doors are of unusual width.

Detail by detail you will discover a new and finer beauty. Rich mohair and wool upholstery conceals all structural body parts. Even the windshield wiper is hidden away in the header above the glass. Window mouldings in burl walnut are provided with tension springs to prevent windows from rattling. Hardware of a special Colonial design with a brushed silver finish accents the decorative scheme.

The instrument panel has a new oblong grouping of instruments, the rim patterned to match the interior hardware. Besides the usual dials, the instrument group includes a motometer and gasoline gauge, and beneath a conveniently placed theft-resisting Electrolock ignition switch. A cylinder lock in the outside handle locks the front curb door, other doors being locked from within by pulling back the latch handles.

Hudson is also fitted with a new type of steering wheel, ebony finished to match the instrument panel. The new wheel has a narrow, hard rubber rim moulded with finger scallops over a continuous steel core in which rim and spokes are integral. Light, horn, spark and throttle controls are carried at the wheel center. The several pounds of added weight in this wheel effectively prevent small vibrations being transmitted from the road to the driver's hands.

An extended filler cap and adjustable tire carrier brackets permit a full width trunk to be mounted at the rear of coach and sedan.

Go to Goldsmith-Becker, Inc., 230 Spring, N. W., and ask to see The Atlanta Constitution's Movietest Cars—three wonderful automobiles. And there, feast your eyes on everything you could possibly want an automobile to be.

ness and nimbleness in its motor action that will make some costlier cars you have driven seem slow and sluggish. AND THESE QUALITIES ARE LASTING.

With whatever costly car you compare Essex you will be impressed by its high standard in design, material and workmanship. The eye is delighted by the general appearance, the touch by those qualities that reveal first-rate materials, and the sense of enjoyment by the smooth, effortless operation of the car. It is admittedly one of the easiest riding cars on the road—it is without doubt the most economical to own in the first cost, upkeep and operation.

Many exclusive and patented features contribute to these Essex advantages—among them being its high-compression Super-Six motor, which many people believe is the most powerful and efficient automobile motor of its size in the world.

The Movietest Editor isn't an automobile salesman. He's merely giving you the REAL FACTS. If you can really and truly appreciate a wonderful automobile, go to Goldsmith-Becker, 230 Spring, N. W., the Hudson and Essex Distributors, and take a good look at the three Movietest Cars selected by The Atlanta Constitution.

SCARCELY ATE A BITE THAT DIDN'T BRING PAIN

"I HAVE recommended Black-Draught to a great many people, and they always thank me, afterwards," says Mrs. Charina Duke, 115 Third Avenue, N. W., Ardmore, Okla.

"Fifteen years ago, I was in very bad health. I suffered a great deal with indigestion, and I traveled from one place to another in search of health, but nothing helped me. I lost in weight, my food disagreed with me, and I could scarcely eat a bite that did not give me indigestion.

"Often I had bad gas pains across my stomach, and I would wake up in the morning with very bad headache. I had a bad taste in my mouth, and would feel dizzy when I was on my feet.

"I began taking Black-Draught, and soon found that I was getting better. I took a dose about the size of a pen, four or five times a day, for three or four days.

"After I had taken several courses of Black-Draught, in that way, I felt fine. I no longer had indigestion. I could eat what I liked, and enjoyed my meals. I gained in weight, and felt able to care for my children and do my housework. My system was freed from the poison which had accumulated and seemed to be the cause of all my trouble.

"Every so often I take a course of Black-Draught, in small doses, and never have any more trouble. I can do more work now than many younger women, because I keep myself fit."

Theodore's Black-Draught is made from pure, medicinal roots and herbs. It contains no harmful, dangerous mineral drugs.

"LAST NIGHT WE WENT OVER TO THE HAUNTED HOUSE, BUT I COULD ONLY GET JOHNNY MCLAREN TO GO IN WITH ME. THE OTHER BOYS STAYED OUT BY THE GATE. WHEN WE GOT IN THE HALL, WE HEARD SOME HEAVY FOOTSTEPS UPSTAIRS."

"JOHNNY WENT UP FIRST AND WHEN I CAME UP HE WAS PEERING THROUGH A CRACK IN THE DOOR. I FELL ON THE LAST STEP AND THE LANTERN WENT ON THE FLOOR WITH A LOUD BANG."

"A DOOR IN THE HALL FLEW OPEN AND A MAN LOOKED OUT. I TOOK A LOOK AT HIM AND I KNEW HIM—HE WAS ONE OF THE TRAMPS WE HAD SEEN CAMPING ON THE RIVER BANK."

"SO WE FOUND OUT WHAT MADE THE HOUSE HAUNTED, AND WHERE THE BLOOD CAME FROM. ONE OF THE TRAMPS GOT A LOAD OF BUCKSHOT IN HIS LEG FOR SWIPING HAMPS OUT OF DOBBIE'S SMOKE-HOUSE, BUT HE SAID IT WAS AN ACCIDENT."

"WE MET ROY AND TOLD HIM ABOUT IT. HE FELT SORRY FOR THE POOR TRAMP THAT WAS HURT, 'GIVE 'EM A CHANCE TO GET WELL AND GET AWAY,' HE SAYS. 'LET'S JUST KEEP THINKING THE HOUSE IS HAUNTED,' WHICH WE DID."

Jerry Muskrat's new house in the Snelling Pool was finished at last. Jerry Muskrat, a young fellow who wasn't a bit more proud of it than was Mrs. Muskrat. To hear her talk about it, you might have thought that house was her idea and that she had done most of the work. The truth is, it was Jerry's idea and he had done nearly all the work, but he was so tickled to have Mrs. Muskrat approve of it that he was quite willing she should take to herself all the credit for it.

Little Joe Otter had passed along that way and had nodded his approval of the new house. Spotty the Turtle had been "times climbed up on a roof and he approved of that house. Grandfather Frog swam over and declared that it was the best house he had seen since he lived in the Snelling Pool. Katties the Kingfisher said that on his yearly journeys he had a chance to see many Muskrat houses, but this one was beyond all question the best ever.

All this was very flattering and Jerry Muskrat enjoyed it. But the early one evening when Billy Mink came to see him, Jerry was a little less sure of himself. It was a long time since Billy had been around. As a matter of fact, Billy had been on one of his long journeys. He likes to take long journeys. But he nearly always comes back to where he started from and is content to stay there for a while. When Jerry first saw him, Billy was sitting on the log rock. Billy saw Jerry at the same instant.

"Hello, Jerry Muskrat!" he cried. "Where did that new house spring from? It's a great improvement to the Snelling Pool."

"It didn't spring from anywhere," said Jerry Muskrat, who had joined Jerry just in time to hear Billy. "We built it."

Jerry gave her a funny look, for it was Jerry who had built that house. "So we did," he said.

Billy then plunged off the Big Rock and swam over to Jerry's house. He built it on the roof and made himself comfortable.

"Where have you been?" inquired Jerry politely.

"A'over," replied Billy, which was the democratic party long before the democratic party was a name.

Mr. Carpenter, of Atlanta, is a surveyor of the National Negro Business League, according to an announcement by Robert B. Elzezer, educational director of the commission on interracial cooperation.

This survey will be the last of a series extending over the past six months and embracing more than 30 cities in the nation where negro business enterprises have been carefully studied and data recorded, the director stated.

It was pointed out that Atlanta was placed last on the list to be surveyed because its importance as a great negro business center was thought to justify an especially thorough study of conditions here.

Those making the survey are Bert M. Roddy, vice president of the National league; Wendell H. Bolton, of the University of Chicago; J. B. Harrison, Jr., of Houston, and George H. Simpson, field director of the survey.

$15,000 VERDICT GIVEN SWITCHMAN IN FREIGHT CRASH

Verdict for $15,000 for injuries received when he was caught between two cars in Inman yards on September 17, 1928, was awarded Judge Perdue Friday afternoon by a jury in Judge E. D. Thomas' division of Fulton superior court in returning a verdict against the defendant Southern Railway company.

Perdue, a switchman, sued for $50,000 damages, alleging that another switchman was responsible for his injury, the railroad company claiming that the accident was Perdue's fault. The jury was out approximately one hour.

Hewlett and Dennis and Lindley W. Camp represented Perdue. The railroad was represented by McDaniel and Neely and Rembert Marshall.

WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE RAPS RECORD OF SMITH

Atlanta, Ga., October 26.—(AP)—Continuing his assault on the "Tammany record" of Governor Smith in an address here tonight, William Allen White, noted Emporia, Kan., editor, charged that the democratic presidential nominee "shows a lack of moral intelligence in his attitude toward his New York legislative record."

"He voted with Tammany for the after-midnight saloon in towns and villages," said Mr. White, who spoke under the auspices of the republican national committee. "Today as a candidate for president, he justifies his vote for the after-midnight saloon in towns and villages because he said he was voting according to the wishes of the constituents. He lived at that time in a district magnetized with saloons—a Tammany district. Of course Al Smith would think an after-midnight saloon was a good thing."

"It is had enough to vote for all-night saloons as a young man, but as governor of New York and candidate for president to defend the vote for the after-midnight saloon shows a lack of moral intelligence that comes from the deadly blight of his Tammany associations."

"Tammany Tags Smith."

Mr. White declared that after Governor Smith's "Tammany saloon record" had been printed and after he had defended that record "the people saw how dead to moral sense he was in that defense."

"Thus does the Tammany tiger tag Smith in his new career," he continued. "He may try to close the door of his political past. But he cannot put out the cat."

The Emporia editor then referred to Governor Smith's publisher, Charles Murphy, Tammany leader, saying:

"At that time Charles Murphy, the boss of Tammany, died worth two million dollars accumulated from what is known as honest Tammany graft. The New York Times published on April 26, 1924, printed Boss Murphy's biography, telling how he saved $500 in two years as a cross town street car driver, and in 1878 'opened a little saloon on 10th street, known as Charlie's place. . . . by 1890 he was the owner of four prosperous saloons making large profits. At that time he was an active worker in the Tammany organization in which he was an election district captain."

Mr. White then quoted a statement of Governor Smith in the same newspaper in which the life of the Tammany leader was held up as "a lesson and example to the youth of our country," and said:

"Now is that kind of a man, who holds up to the youth of the land as a shining inspiration a Tammany saloon keeper, the kind of a man to put in the white house to control the destinies of 100,000,000 people?"

"Let us look at Smith's Tammany saloon record as it passes in review. With the Tammany point of view, as governor of New York he advocated the repeal of the New York state prohibition enforcement law. He signed this Tammany saloon bill as governor when the president of the United States requested him to stand by the constitution and as governor to enforce the prohibition law."

"Smarting under criticism of his policy of nullification he declared last year that he hates parts of the American constitution. And now, ten weeks ago, he publicly defends all his Tammany saloon votes in the legislature as good votes—not upon the moral issues involved, not appealing to the conscience of the people, but because those votes are sustained by Tammany hall and therefore made a majority."

"Here is a man as 'an example to the youth.' And now you are asked to put this Tammany candidate into the white house."

"He says that he will enforce the Volstead act. Will he enforce the Volstead act in the white house as he enforced it in the governor's chair where he led the movement to repeal the law providing for enforcement? Or will he push through, in spite of the constitution which he hates, his state dispensary system which will allow various Tammany halls in the great cities to control the liquor business in graft and corruption?"

Mr. White's speech was the first of several in the south and east.

ATLANTA EXPECTED TO FILL 400 BAGS FOR SERVICE MEN

Atlanta's quota of Christmas bags for distribution among American soldiers and sailors in foreign and insular service has been set at 400, with a national quota of 42,000 bags, it was learned Friday from the Atlanta chapter of the Red Cross.

Contributions will be received at 283 1-2 Peachtree street, local Red Cross headquarters, new articles only will be solicited and all bags should be returned to the local chapter by November 10, it was stated. It only costs from $1 to $1.50 to fill a bag with such presents as toilet articles, shaving equipment, cigarettes, pipes, candy and nuts and the like (in tins only), knives, pencils, handkerchiefs, small books, harmonicas and games. It also was announced by Miss Ruth Sheafe, executive secretary of the Atlanta chapter that the recent Atlanta drive for Florida hurricane sufferers totaled $51,463 in cash and 200 boxes of clothing, each box containing from 300 to 1,200 garments.

Some of the garments found unsuitable for wear in the tropics were sold at rummage sale which netted $750. That amount was included in the cash relief fund. The use of a store at Butler street and Edgewood avenue was contributed by J. J. Haver and the rummage sale was conducted there for 10 days.

THE GUMPS—FLAMING YOUTH

THE NIGHTMARE

By GERALD MYGATT

Patricia Shaw is being entertained in one of New York's night clubs by Fanning Edgerton. She is amused by the insolent stare of a hawk-nosed man on the opposite side of the room. The hawk-nosed man is a blonde, coarse-looking woman and a slight young man who appears to be drunk. The head waiter calls young Edgerton away from his table on a pretext, and as soon as he is gone the hawk approaches Patricia and tries to engage her in conversation. He is interrupted by a good looking young chap, who orders him back to his place. The newcomer introduces himself as Jimmy Kirklin. Patricia tells Kirklin that she thinks the hawk-nosed person had asked the head waiter to get rid of her escort. A fight ensues and Fanning Edgerton walks in on it. He pays the head waiter to remove him, and a tria introduces Kirklin to him and then takes Fanning to take her home. A few minutes later, as Kirklin leaves the place with his companion, he is followed by a man on the street who appears to be drunk. The hawk-nosed person, known as Bart Stoman, after taking the blonde woman home, makes for his secret hideout, and there goes over a number of newspaper clippings dealing with the disappearance of the 14-year-old daughter of Colonel La Verry, who offers a million dollar reward for the safe return of the girl. Stoman notices the fact that the pictures of Sylvia La Verry resemble the girl he saw in the cabaret with Fanning Edgerton, except for a red birthmark above the pictures.

"Can't be, not here—unless Ed Stoman has bought himself a uniform or something."

"But look," commanded Jimmy. It was a policeman, right enough, and he tramped toward them heavily. "Thank goodness it's a cop," remarked Jimmy with a nervous half laugh. "Say, look at that build. Just look at those shoulders. Believe me, I'd hate to stack up against that baby."

His hand and Patricia's had found each other; their fingers were twined tight. "Say, you guys," stormed the policeman, wading up to them in the dry, soft sand, "you're boobs to be out tonight. Don't you know what's up?"

"Who are you?" said Jimmy, measuring him. "Me? Patrolman Jacobs, Central office, New York. There's a squad of us out here with lieutenant, round-up a gang. Say, the gang's after you, lady—didn't you know that?" He addressed Jimmy now with condescension. "You ain't old enough to be out," he stated. "Knowin' all you know and walkin' this lady out alone into danger. Say, you two haven't a chance."

The man now grinned widely and reached toward his hip. "Look!" he announced, and produced from his pocket a smooth, black object shaped like a slim and elongated pear. "That's a blackjack," he went on. "Ever seen one used?" Patricia shrieked, "Look out!" But it was too late.

The blackjack, tossed up in a short arc, came down with a smack upon Jimmy's uncovered head. Momen- tarily Jimmy seemed to stand erect after the sharp crack of the impact. Then his knees gave way, and his waist and his ankles, and even his neck. He slumped to the ground as quickly as a deflated balloon.

Across Patricia's mouth a wide, dirty hand had been clapped.

"You stay quiet, dame," directed the man with the gorilla shoulders. He laughed. "Kick all you want to, kiddo. Yah, bite, will you! Say I could tell you, too, only the boss says no."

Now he gave a low whistle and another. He waited, then at length spoke: "Die up the dame first, boss. That's right, gimme the handkerchief. The guy there, he's out for a couple of hours." He busied himself diligently, as with practiced hands. "Rope now, he shot over his shoulder. "Say, boss, want I should beat him up now?"

"No," said Bart Stoman with an ugly laugh. "We'll wait till he comes awake, if he ever does. I want to know what's happening to him—and why he's laughing again, but this time more pleasantly. "Smooth as silk—eh, Jake? Stick to me, boy, and you'll wear diamonds. Because I know me, Jake. I never miss a trick."

The gorilla-shouldered man stood up, walked over to Jimmy, and kicked him straight. "How far to the car, boss?" he asked. "Oh, about a half mile, I guess. It's on the back road, the one that leads to the lighthouse, according to the map."

"Have this baby tied up in a minute," grunted Jake. "Then you lead the way, boss. I can carry the two of 'em on one trip."

Patricia felt herself being carried, sack-fashion, toward a car that was said to be somewhere on the Petawick Point road.

She could feel herself flopping up and down on what was undoubtedly somebody's shoulder; she dangled, bent double like a doll. And then abruptly the jolting shoulder was still. She was lifted bodily, dumped into the bottom of an automobile. Some soft thing, a blanket possibly, was pulled over her.

For a time Patricia set herself to keeping track, as best she could, of the roads upon which this blind journey was carrying her. She knew the near highways of Norfolk county intimately as she knew her A-B-C's. Mentally she pictured the scene that must be meeting the driver's eyes: scrub oak on the left, Joe Cumba's unpainted farmhouse on the right, with the fallen windmill just beyond.

She listened. Dimly she could hear whispering. One of the side doors was opened, held so for a moment, then slammed. By the tilting and squeaking of the car body she knew that someone had gotten either in or out. Had they lifted Jimmy out? Were they going to leave him? Were they going—going—

Yale-Army Game Will Be Highlight of Grid Contests Today

Oglethorpe and Maryville Will Meet Today on Spiller Gridiron

Conference Leaders Due For Battles

Seven Undeleted Teams Facing Severe Tests in Games This Afternoon.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

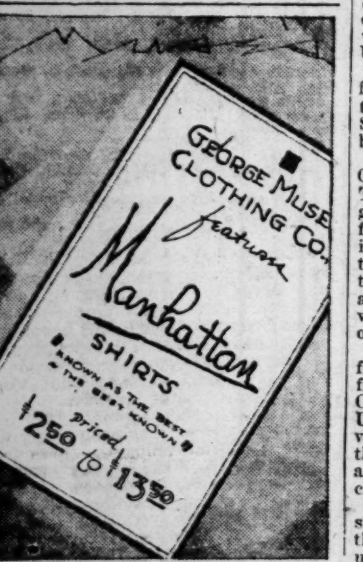

Seven teams, carrying undefeated banners in the Southern conference, await tomorrow's whistle for contests which likely will cut one or two away from the perfect class. Georgia Tech had reason to hope for its third straight conference victory as the Golden Tornado moved into Chapel Hill for a clash with North Carolina's Tarheels. The Atlanta record of shutout victories over Virginia Military Institute, Tulane and Notre Dame on successive Saturdays is unquestionably a pre-game edge, as the Tarheels have lost already to Harvard and Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Some 20,000 are expected to trek to Kenan Memorial stadium for the game. Florida, another undefeated team which also boasts a perfect defensive record, will shoot Brumbaugh, Crabtree and other scoring aces against North Carolina's Wolfpack—a team already defeated in the conference.

Vanderbilt's Commodores will be trying for their second straight conference victory as they encounter Virginia's battered Cavaliers at Nashville.

Tennessee, tied with Georgia Tech for second place in Southern leadership standings, attempts its third successful assault of the season against Washington and Lee at Knoxville. The Generals, defeated a (Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance and The Constitution.) There won't be much excitement in the Pacific coast conference this Saturday unless some of the teams scheduled as light opposition forget themselves and pull the unexpected. Most of the teams are supposed to be resting in preparation for a week from Saturday when many big contests are slated to be played.

The outstanding game on the coast appears to be that which features the undefeated Olympic club team of the Pacific coast conference this Saturday in preparation for a week from Saturday when many big contests are slated to be played.

Cochran-Lacey has a bunch of veteran players on his team and inasmuch as the Bears are unlikely to be keyed up for the game an Olympic club victory is certainly a possibility, if not a probability.

California plays Oregon University in a tough conference game the following week and Coach Nils Price won't want to kill his men off against the Bears.

Stanford has a soft touch in Fresno State. Coach Warner will probably see most of his regulars for the first time with Southern California here the following week.

The University of California at Los Angeles goes north to Moscow, Idaho, to play Idaho University. The game looks like a toss-up. Idaho will have a decided weight edge, while the Bruins should show more speed and diversity of attack than their rivals.

Oregon State tackles Washington of Seattle and ought to take the measure of Coach Knoch's team, which was soundly beaten by Oregon University last week.

Washington State plays a non-conference game with the College of Idaho team and Montana engages Montana State in another contest which has no bearing on the official standings. Southern California plays host to Occidental College's undefeated team. The Tigers have won three straight games in the southern California conference, all by convincing scores, having run up 79 points to but 14 for their opponents. We meet them between two tough games and may have a hard time winning. I shall be very well satisfied with a small score in our favor.

In the Rocky mountain conference four teams remain undefeated in conference games. They are Colorado College, Colorado "U," Utah "U" and Utah Aggies, the latter tied by Denver. Utah "U" plays Colorado "U" this Saturday in a game which will go a long way towards deciding the championship.

Colorado College, topping conference standings with three victories, rests this week in preparation for next Saturday's game with Utah "U."

ZUPPKE'S PICKS.

Iowa-Minnesota—Minnesota is the favorite but Iowa can make it anybody's game. Nebraska-Missouri—Nebraska, if they control the ball and break up Missouri's passes. Illinois-Northwestern—Too close to home to predict.

Wisconsin-Michigan—It is hard to see anything but another defeat for Michigan. Chicago-Purdue—Purdue should win. Ohio State-Indiana—Looks like anybody's. Notre Dame-Drake—Fighter that usual, but Notre Dame.

Alabama-Kansas Aggie—Oklahoma looks better. Iowa State-Kansas—Anything is likely to happen here.

Marquette-Holy Cross—Another toss-up. Washington-Baylor—Baylor has the edge. Detroit-Detroit—Detroit should win its fifth straight victory.

Cincinnati-St. Louis—Cincinnati looks much better.

BY BOB ZUPPKE.

Football Coach, University of Illinois (Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance and The Constitution.)

A coach with a big, smashing, versatile fullback should sit around and feel good all day, for he is the darling of the gods. A fullback of this type is the necessary ingredient of a great team, although few persons realize it.

Consider then Dr. Spars, of Minnesota, and Burt Ingwersen, of Iowa, the only two unbeaten teams of the Big Ten, which meet Saturday in the most important conference game.

Iowa has big linemen but they seemed somewhat clumsy against Chicago. Minnesota's line is more agile, and seems better. Minnesota's backs are as good as unless McClain turns out to be a superman. Minnesota made a much larger score against Chicago than Iowa but these big scores do not mean much when you hit a team with a real defense. Minnesota is the favorite, but Ingwersen's Hawkeyes can make it anybody's game if they go in with the feeling they are just as good and are not bluffed by that big Chicago score and memories of past defeats.

The Big Six championship probably will be settled when Nebraska and Missouri meet. Despite Nebraska's Missouri has won for the past three years and they hate it in Lincoln! Last year Nebraska outplayed the Tigers but lost, 7-6, by a pass.

Nebraska's job is to keep control of the ball and they will have an opportunity to do this. Then, if they can break up Missouri's passes, they can win. Coach Bearz was fortunate that Syracuse gave Nebraska a good workout on a passing attack.

Illinois, which meets Northwestern, obtained valuable defensive experience against Indiana, which showed the players that they have a lot to learn and the coaches that they have a lot to teach. Some critics think Illinois has a better line. I know that our backfield is not so powerful as Northwestern's. Their backs are bigger and more powerful—ours are more of the rabbit type.

If the Illinois game did not take a lot of time under the Hoosiers will give Ohio State a game.

Drake should make things much more interesting for Notre Dame than ever before, but Klocke should take this one.

BY BILL ROPER.

Princeton Football Coach. (Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance and The Constitution.)

The last Saturday in October is one of the big days in eastern football. The Yale-Army game is probably the outstanding contest in view of its spectacular features with the entire crop of cadets in attendance. Other important games are the Dartmouth-Harvard, Navy-Penn, Cornell-Princeton, Penn State-Syracuse and a host of others.

At looks as if two very strong teams would meet when the Army and Yale clash in the afternoon. As Princeton has a non-scouting agreement with Yale, I have no idea of the strength of the Elis, except from what I read in the newspapers.

From all accounts, however, there never has been a Yale-Army game surrounded by so much uncertainty. I see a real reason why either team should be favored. Both have strong, well-coached lines, with shifty, versatile backfields.

Harder Schedule.

The Army has possibly played a harder schedule than Yale. Southern Methodist and Harvard both gave the Army very busy afternoons. While the Army defeated Harvard 15-0, this score hardly indicates the comparative strength of the two teams.

The Harvard game undoubtedly was a hard test for the Army and it may take the team some time to get over the reaction after a big game. Mental as much as physical. Of course the Army has as well as the Harvard game. They seem to be playing on big games up at West Point.

On paper Yale looks equally as strong, if not a bit stronger, than the Elis. In a rushing attack, but the Army may have a little advantage in forward passing. However, I just writing this as a guess. The game may show I am absolutely wrong.

It is a rash venture to make any predictions about football these days. I will predict, however, the game will be a close contest between two well coached teams.

Both Princeton and Cornell are somewhat of an unknown quality. From all I can gather Cornell looks stronger than last year. With the strength of the game to the players' feet, Cornell and Princeton teams will take dinner together the night before the game. The game at Ithaca last year was played under the most cordial surroundings. We are going to try to return some of Cornell's hospitality this year.

It does seem to me a good thing to create as much of a friendly atmosphere as possible around a big football game. I believe it is a good thing for the game to the players' feet, Cornell and Princeton teams will take dinner together the night before the game. The game at Ithaca last year was played under the most cordial surroundings. We are going to try to return some of Cornell's hospitality this year.

Harvard got a lot of big game experience from its Army game, and should be a much stronger team against Dartmouth. The Army game I don't believe there will be as much loose handling of the ball as against the Army. Harvard forward pass defense will have to stiffen considerably or Dartmouth is apt to make trouble. On paper, Dartmouth looks a bit more experienced but I look for a very close game.

Syracuse made a splendid showing against Nebraska in spite of the long trip. The Penn State line is a good football against Penn's versatile attack. I don't see much to choose between the two teams.

75,000 To See New York Tilt Of Old Rivals

More Than 2,000,000 Fans Will Crowd Stadiums Over Nation Today.

BY ALAN J. GOULD.

Associated Press Sports Editor. New York, October 26.—(AP)—The last October whirl of the football campaign tomorrow will offer the biggest testing process so far for the championship aspirations of colleges anticipating something to be thankful for by Thanksgiving.

From coast to coast and border to border the gridiron will be on the war path in full cry. From Boulder to Boston games that have a vital bearing on conference or sectional championship will be closely watched. From lowly substitute to loudly hailed star there rests the urge to be in there "dying for the dear old alma mater" with some heroic deed.

2,000,000 Spectators. Probably 2,000,000 spectators will watch tomorrow's fray in all sections of the nation's football fronts, with 500,000 alone seated along the eastern sidelines. Several times that many will be on the radio, listening to several cases will be broadcast over networks of stations. The Yale-Army game is in this category, focusing national attention on a spectacular crowd of some 75,000 fans its way into the big New Haven bowl for the annual clash of Cadet and Eli.

The fortunes of the Army this year are attracting more widespread attention than ever before, not only because "Big Game" soldiers have drawn opposition from so many places but also because West Point has a formidable contender for national championship in its. These aspirations may be joined by the Bulldogs tomorrow, as they have been in former years, but it will take a stalwart blue defense to repel the thrusts of Cadet and Murrel behind the powerful Army forward wall.

Another tussle of gridiron titans is looked at in the game where McLean, Iowa's big Indian fullback, will lead the Hawkeyes into the thick of combat with Minnesota's juggernaut.

The fortunes of the Army this year are attracting more widespread attention than ever before, not only because "Big Game" soldiers have drawn opposition from so many places but also because West Point has a formidable contender for national championship in its. ### 75,000 To See New York Tilt Of Old Rivals

THE GRIDIRON ROUNDUP.

ARMY-YALE—New Haven. The margin here is negligible. It is as close to a toss-up as the flip of a coin can bring. The Army ought to win through its greater experience. But the Army, as a rule, has to be much better than Yale to beat Yale. That is the way it has usually worked. On straight away playing strength the advantage belongs to West. The battle between Garvey and Cagle should be one of the best of any field. Both are stars. There will be no great difference in the rival line play. The two teams are close enough to let the breaks of the game decide the issue, although Army experience should give at least a mild advantage.

Harvard-Dartmouth—Cambridge. Dartmouth has the winning edge through an improved line over last fall and a more versatile attack, headed by Marsters. Harvard has a world of power and a full share of speed. But Dartmouth should have much the better passing game, and this air superiority should leave the Green fluttering above the Crimson. The stand will be cluttered up with fine backs, including Marsters, Black, French and Quarnstein. If Harvard had a better passing game or a better passing defense there would be no choice. As it is, Dartmouth ought to win.

Minnesota-Iowa—Iowa City. The big game of the conference between two unbeaten teams with an attack headed by Nagurski and McLean. Minnesota has shown a trifle better in the field but Iowa is harder to overpower and should win. Spars has a fine team this season, one of the best he has ever sent to the field. Iowa is a big improvement over last year, but Minnesota looks a trifle stronger.

Princeton-Cornell—Princeton. The pick has to be Princeton by a somewhat decisive margin. The Tiger ought to be in for one of his best seasons. The quarterback play comes up to the normal Princeton standard. Cornell material hasn't been any too good for the last two years.

Ohio State-Indiana—Bloomington. Ohio State is extremely anxious to reach the Princeton game next week unbeaten. Princeton feels the same way about it. Indiana is harder to stop than Cornell will be. Indiana's sole defeat so far came from the powerful Illinois team, where only a touchdown made up the winning margin. Ohio State has one of its best teams, with an improved line and a backfield well handled. Ohio State should have a touchdown to spare, but little more. Indiana's set-up for any one.

New York University-Colgate—New York. A hard game, as it was last year, but N. Y. U. should win. Colgate's main strength is on defense. N. Y. U. is strong both ways, strong enough to win by two touchdowns. This is one of Meehan's best teams.

Pennsylvania-Navy—Philadelphia. Another victory for the bounding Pennsylvania team that seems to be on its way to an unbeaten year. The Navy has won only one out of four games. It has little to offer against such stars as Scull, Shober, Murphy, Smith, Ute, etc. The Red and Blue is two touchdowns better.

Illinois-Northwestern—Urbana. Illinois should win. Zupke has one of his best teams—a veteran line, a world of replacements and a good backfield.

Wisconsin-Michigan—Ann Arbor. Another on the chin for Michigan, but no part of a slaughter. Wisconsin ran into a shock last week, but should bounce back with enough to hand the Wolverine another pelting.

Vanderbilt-Virginia—Nashville. Virginia tied Princeton, but the unbeaten Vanderbilt team should carry too many gains for the Old Dominion. Dan McGugin has one of his best teams in many years.

Georgia Tech-North Carolina—Chapel Hill. A team strong enough to beat Notre Dame should stop North Carolina. Tech has a star backfield in Thomson, Mizek, Lumpkin and Randolph. Tech should win.

Purdue-Chicago—Chicago. "Stagg Fears Purdue" is one of the oldest football headlines. This time it goes. Purdue has a better team in every way and should win handily, if three hard games in a row haven't brought on a slump.

Columbia-Williams—New York. Columbia has enough to get by a trifle too much both in the line and backfield for Williams to hold back.

Pacific Coast. Southern California should beat Occidental. California will have a hard day against the strong Olympic team. Stanford should beat Fresno. Idaho should handle California (southern branch).

The South. Georgia should beat Tulane. Alabama null Sewanee. Centenary beat Chattanooga. Tennessee looks stronger than W. and L. Florida should continue its gallop. V. M. I. should take Maryland. Barnes will be the winning margin.

Pittsburgh-Carnegie Tech—Pittsburgh. One of the best of the day. Carnegie Tech has improved from last year and Pitt lost more than one star. Carnegie Tech, through Harpster, should have the call.

Missouri-Nebraska—Lincoln. As hard and as close a game as any field will show. Both are exceptionally good this season. Nebraska is nothing to laugh off when playing at home. There is little difference, but Nebraska has the call.

Syracuse-Penn State—State College. Syracuse has a slight advantage through the brilliant passing of Baysinger. Any team that holds Nebraska to a one-point edge has something. Another close, hard game.

Lafayette should beat West Virginia and Boston College is too good for Boston University.

Prize Fights.

Lake Worth, Fla., October 26.—Teddy Taylor, of Lake Worth, emerged winner in a hectic ten-round ring battle tonight with Jack Burke, of Miami, as the feature of the weekly card here. Taylor weighed 160 and Burke tipped the beam at 155.

Texas, Oct. 26.—Jimmy Byrne, Louisville heavyweight, was awarded the decision over Big Boy Peterson of Minneapolis, here tonight in scheduled ten-round go. Referee Chris Dixon stopped the fight in the tenth round, disqualifying Peterson for repeatedly ignoring warnings against holding. According to newspaper critics the fight up until the tenth round was a fairly even match.

Chicago, October 26.—Johnny Dunn, San Francisco middleweight, fought an uphill battle to hold Hankton Hanson, of Kansas, to a draw in 10 rounds tonight.

Ennis Peters, Chicago, 112, scored a technical knockout over Mickel Egan, Los Angeles, 110, in the fifth round of their scheduled ten-round bout.

Bennett, at end for the Norman team, was a tower of strength for his team. He showed himself to be one of the best ends ever to play on Davenport field. With two minutes to play he fumbled and dropped a tip-top shape and due to the excellent generalship of their quarterback Black, were able to stop Griffin, led by Whately and Bridges.

The game was brought to a rousing finish as Lee scored in the last 30 seconds of play when McSwain following a series of terrific line bucks, carried the ball and Treadway kicked goal to make the score 7 to 0.

G. M. C. And Norman Play Scoreless Tie.

Milledgeville, Ga., October 26.—(Special).—The G. M. C. and Norman institute elders played to a scoreless tie here this afternoon, although both teams threatened to score on several occasions, either fumbles or incomplete passes ruining their chances.

Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, October 26.—(AP)—Wheat went up in price today and corn chiefly owing to large-scale operations of "spread" traders, who simultaneously bought wheat and sold corn. The rise of wheat was aided by export purchases of 1,250,000 bushels of North American wheat, mostly Canadian. On the other hand, sharp selling of wheat was noted here, especially for old corn, tended to weaken the corn market as a whole.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm 5-5 1/2c bid; a bushel net higher.

Corn future deliveries finished irregular, varying from 1-4c to 1-5c advance, with oats 1-5c to 1-6c off, and provisions unchanged to 1-5c down.

Liverpool Prices Firm.

Strengthening of prices today in the wheat market here had as a background unexpected firmness of wheat quotations at Liverpool. Respective rivals of domestic wheat at Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago totaled only 614 cars, compared with 989 cars a week ago. Canadian country wheat, which showed likewise a decided falling-off, totaled 3,828,000 bushels, against 7,554,000 bushels in the corresponding one year back.

Considerable notice on the part of wheat traders was given to reports that although soil conditions are generally favorable over domestic wheat territory, more rain is needed in western sections of Kansas and Oklahoma.

A comprehensive summary of unofficial reports from the United States winter wheat belt as a whole said indications are that the seeded area will not be larger than last year, and is likely to be somewhat less.

Old Corn Tumbles.

A drop of all the way from 2c to 7c a bushel in the price of cash corn today was chief cause for the fall in the greater bulk of the corn that reached Chicago today, though, was new crop corn. However, the total, 165 cars, new crop corn was much heavier than has been the rule of late. Some authorities said the new corn being received here constituted 60 per cent of the total. About 400,000 bushels of corn was taken today for export. Meanwhile, the forecast pointed to unsettled weather for the corn belt tonight, and country offerings to arrive were smaller. Oats prices held within narrow limits.

Despite an upward trend in the hog market, provisions were easier on account of scattered selling.
